PRESS RELEASE

Date of Release: November 17, 2017

On November 16, 2017, the Solano County District Attorney's Office held a public forum that focused on promoting awareness and prevention of domestic violence. On behalf of the District Attorney's Office, we want to thank the panelists for providing greater insight into domestic violence, overcoming the trauma of abuse, and the impact domestic violence has on children. The panelists included Chief Deputy District Attorney Sharon Henry, Vacaville Police Department Detective Donald McCoy, Karenda Stinnett from Solano Advocates for Victims of Violence, Amy Love from the Seneca Family of Agencies and Toni Dumont from Safe Quest Solano. A special thank you also goes out to Vic Jenkins who shared his story as a father who lost his daughter to domestic violence.

We would also like to express our gratitude to our partner agencies and service practitioners that participated in the forum and provided resources to those in attendance. Specifically, we would like to thank our staff at the Solano Family Justice Center, and members of the Solano Partnership Against Violence, the Courage Center, Solano Trauma Recovery Center, Child Haven, Travis Air Force Base, Fairfield Police Department and Assemblymember Jim Frazier's Office.

The District Attorney's Office is committed to bringing members of the community together to help combat the cycle of violence. If you have been a victim of domestic violence please contact the Family Justice Center at (707) 784-7635, or if it's an emergency please call 9-1-1.
